Lumberport Begins Bicentennial

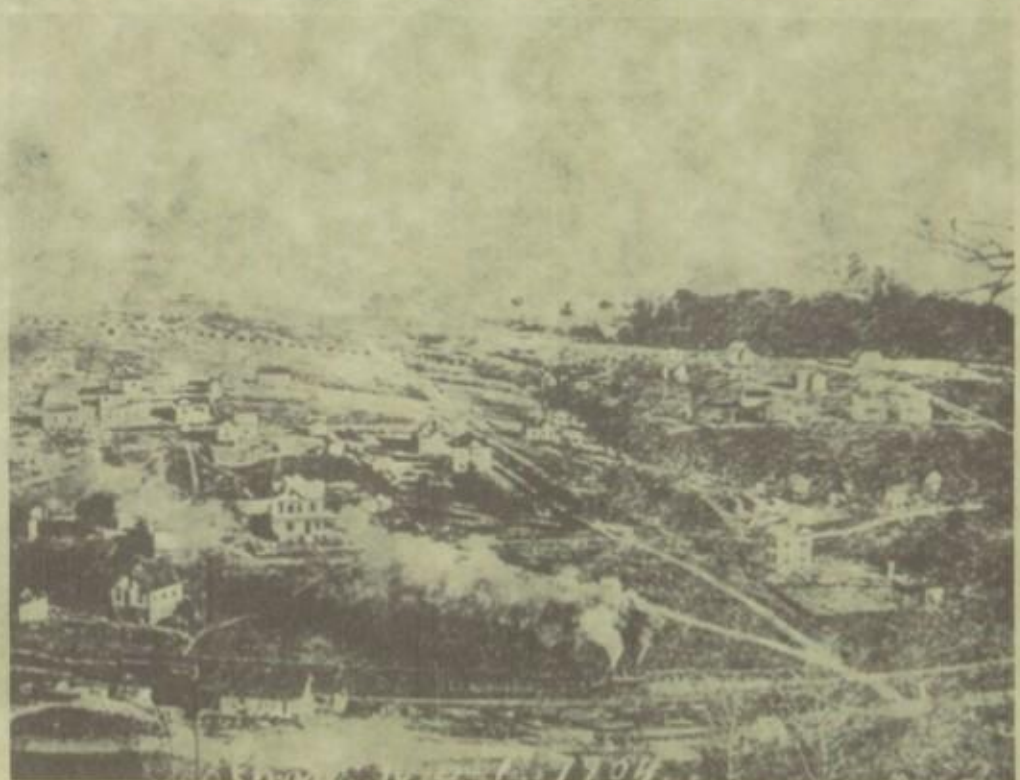

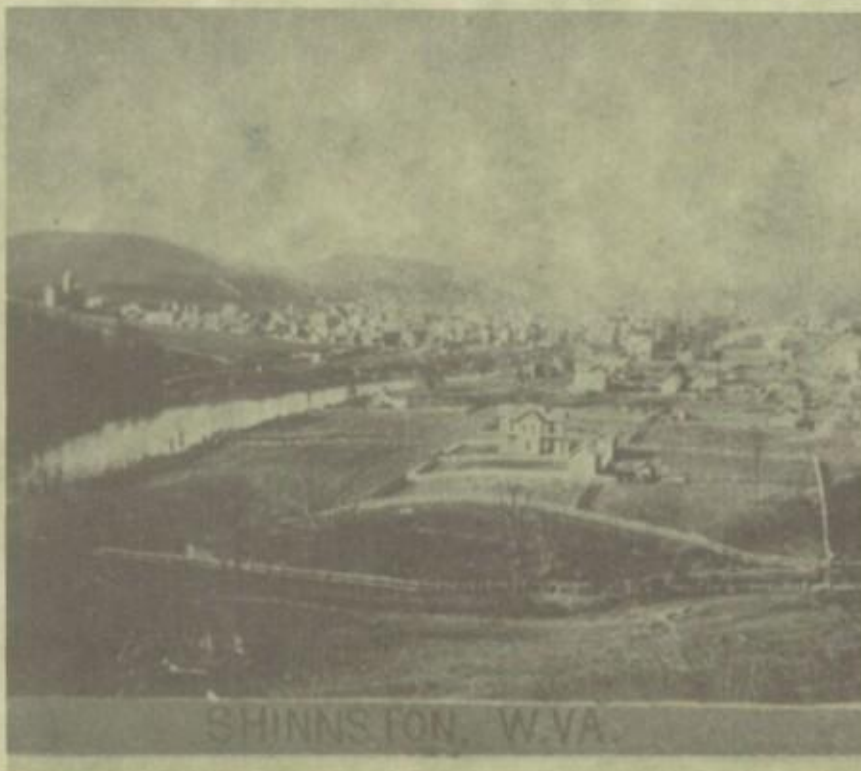

Lumberport began celebrating the bicentennial with a parade and guest speaker. Senator Robert Byrd presented a very interesting speech and talked with the people. The band livened up the afternoon by playing patriotic music.

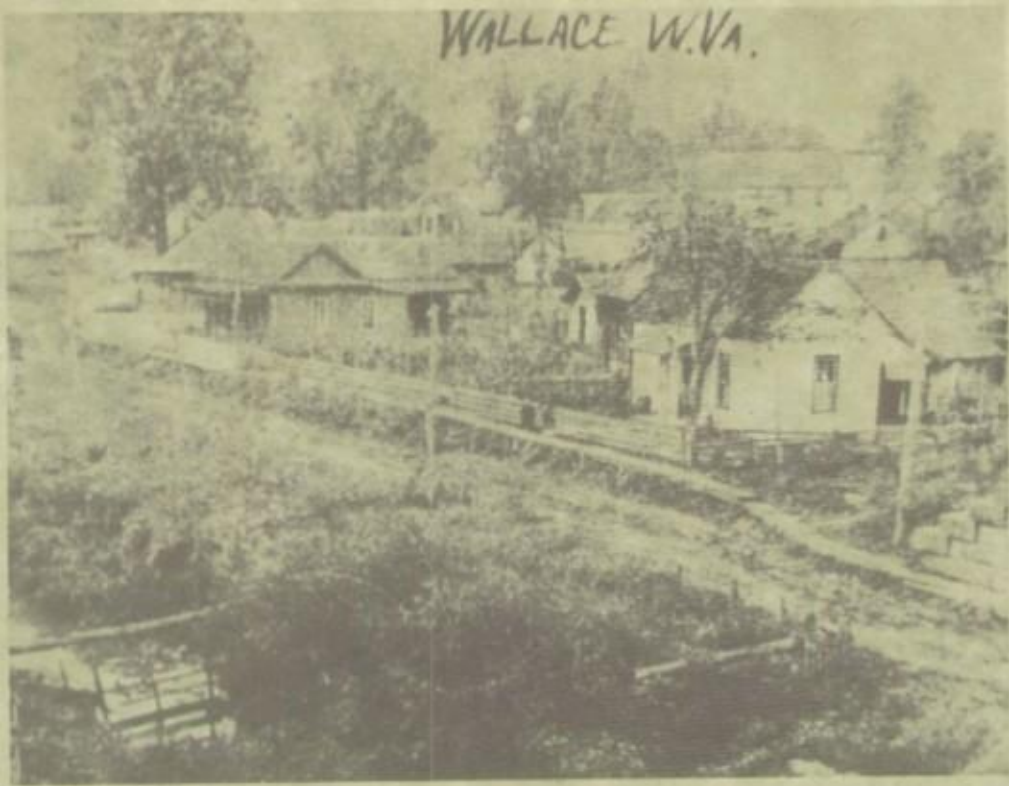

Harrison County was formed from Monongalia County in 1784. It was named for Benjamin Harrison who was the father of General William Henry Harrison, a president of the United States. John Simpson was the first man to settle in Harrison County. He camped during the winter of 1764 in the area now known as Stealey, a part of Clarksburg. He sold his land to Nicholas Carpenter and went into the wilderness. Clarksburg was chosen as the county seat because it was a geographic center. They named the village Clarksburg after George Rogers Clark.

Harrison County in the Making

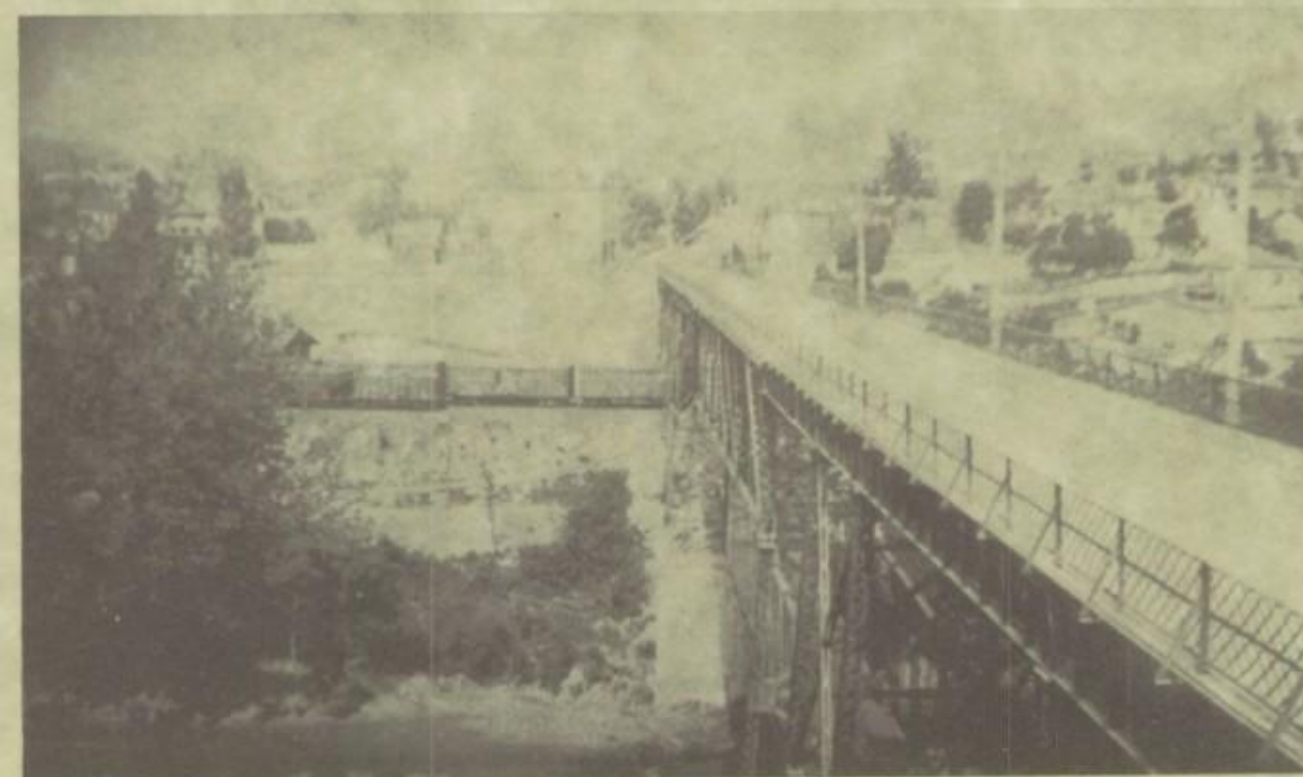

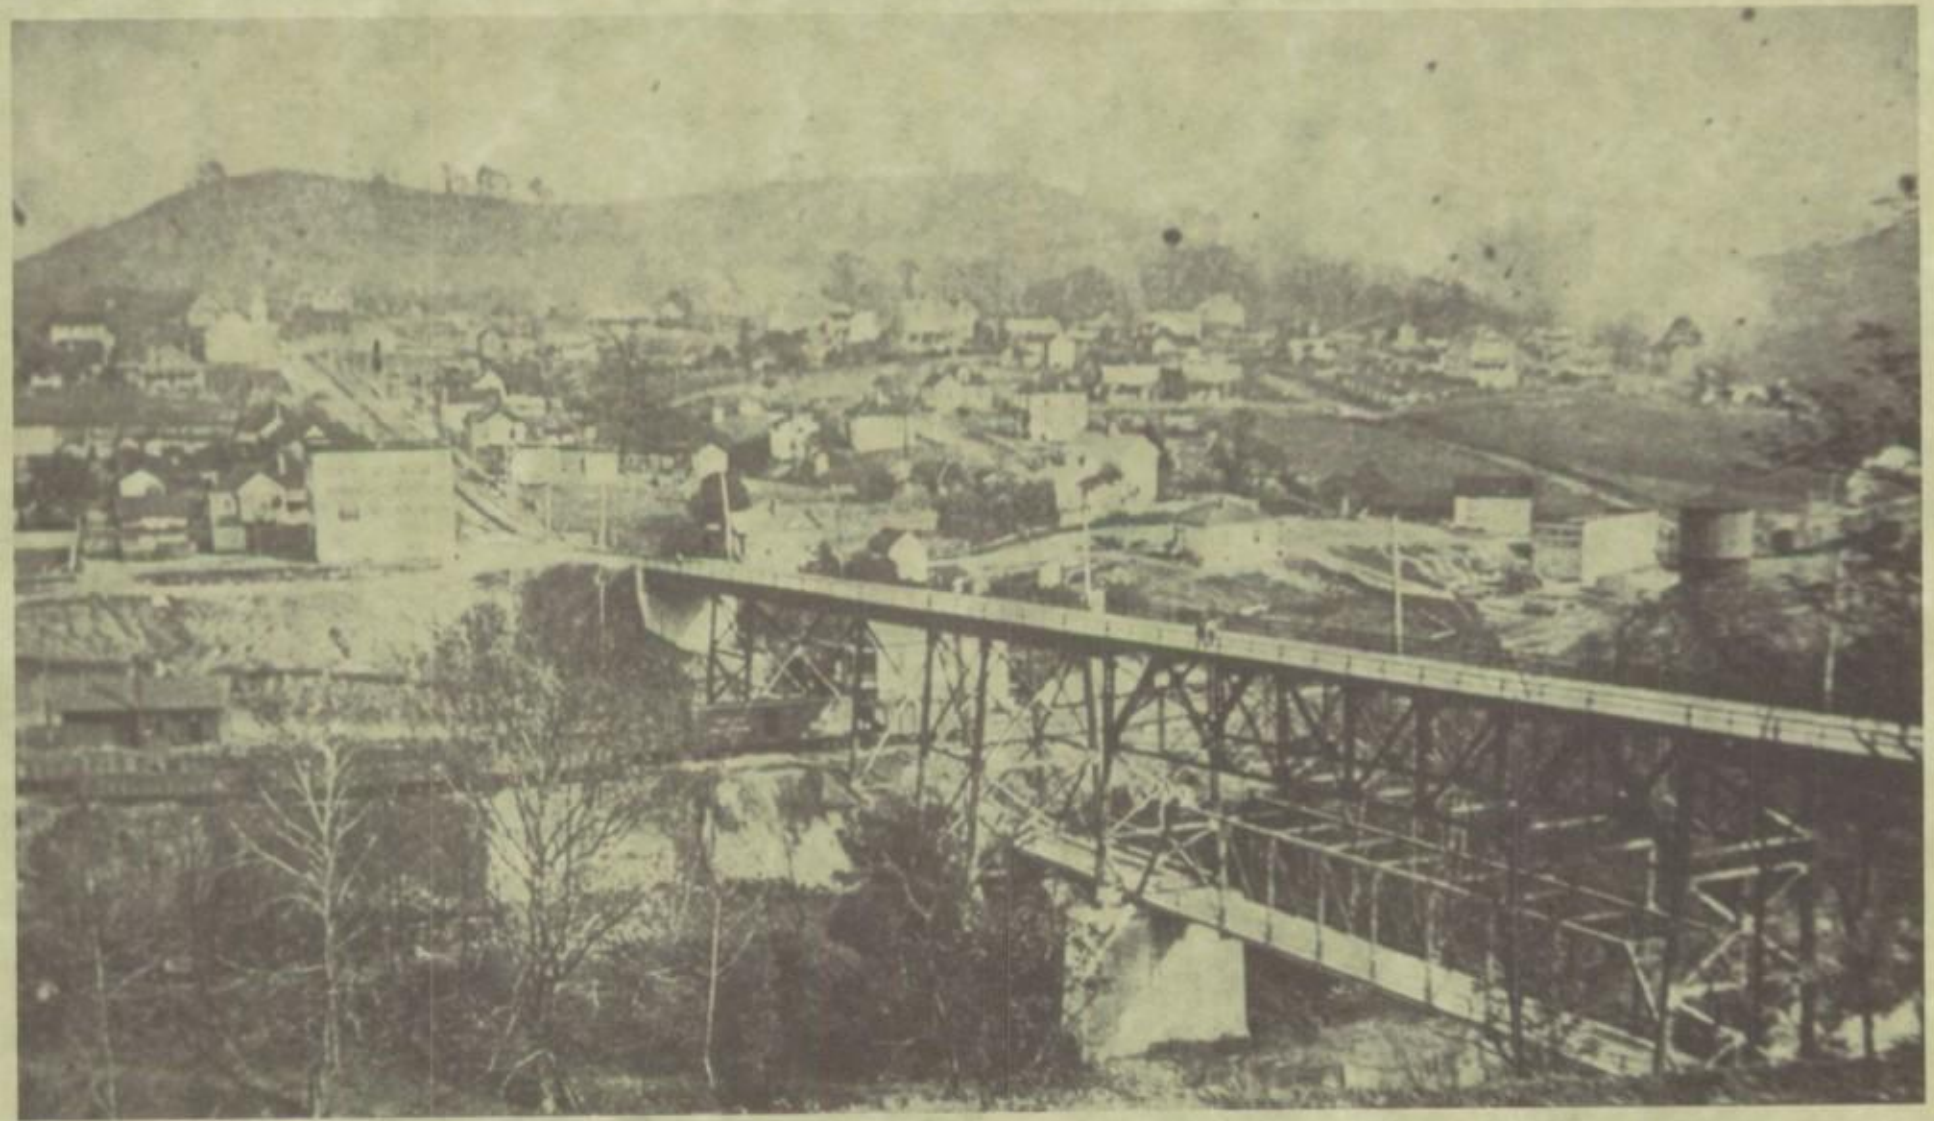

WALLACE W.VA.

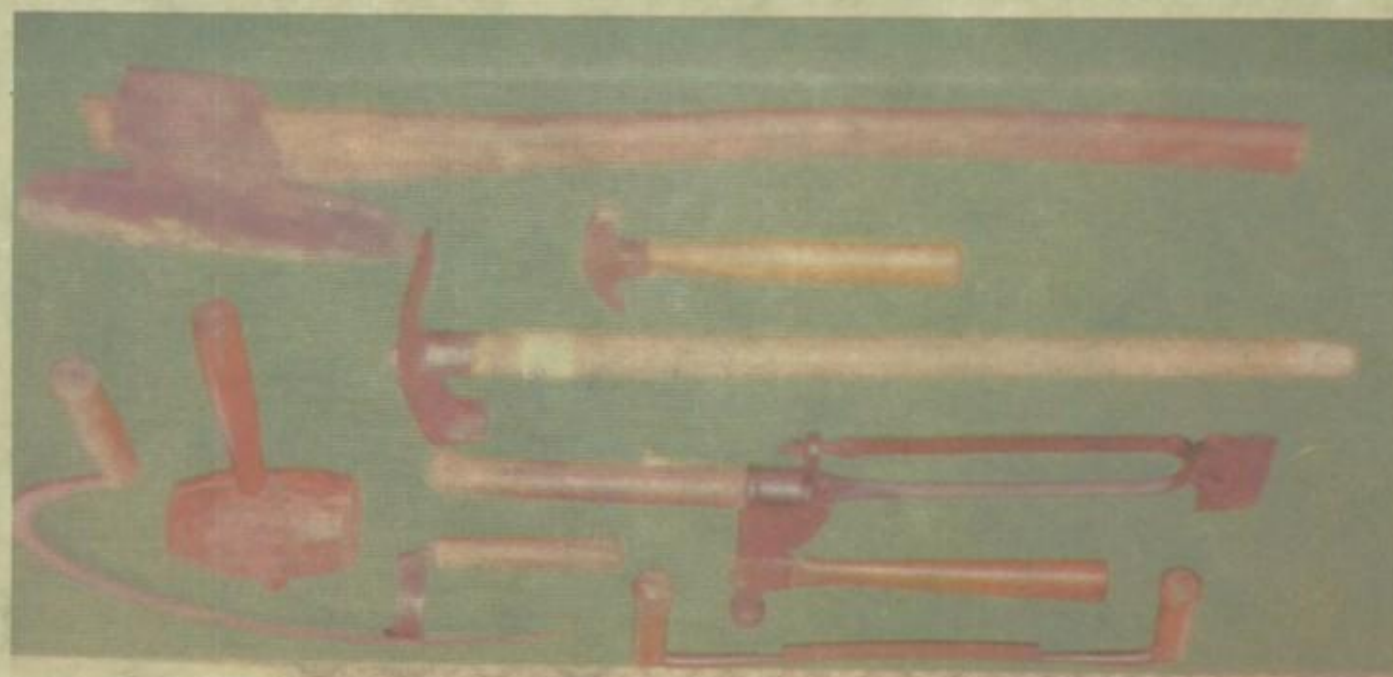

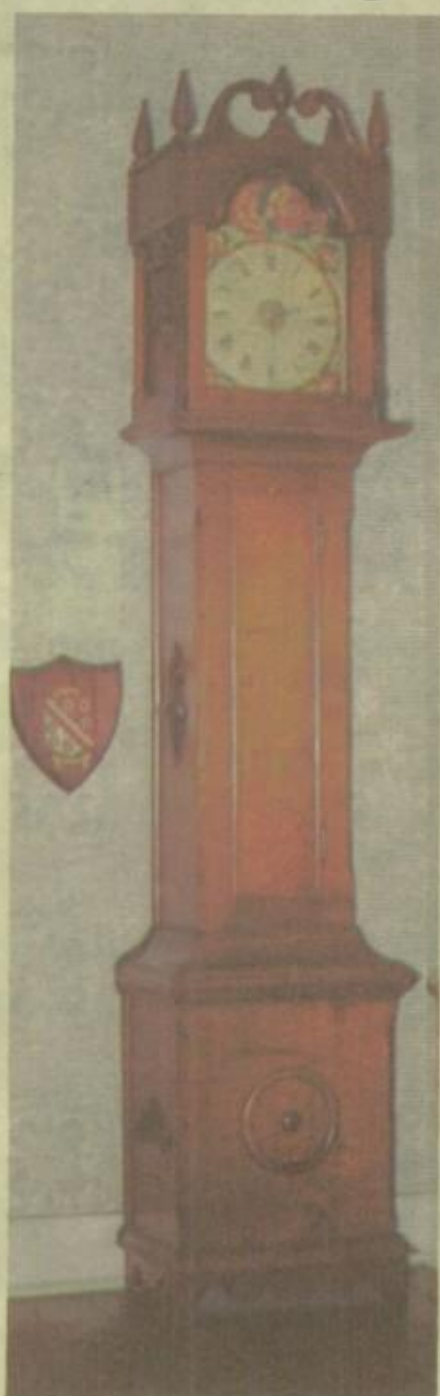

During the American Revolution there was such a small population in Harrison County that there was no significant amount of activity. However, during the Civil War, there was activity with the Confederates attempting to gain control of the railroads.

Harrison County has contributed much to the economy of West Virginia with its coal mines and glass industry. Culturally and politically this county has held its own with the other counties.

Today Harrison County stands out among the counties of West Virginia.

Heritage

Lumberport's Past

Lumberport, a few years ago, was a rather lively place. The opera house provided entertainment for residents of Lumberport and surrounding communities. From the mill, lumber was floated down the river. The method of transportation may not have been the most comfortable but it was the most convenient for this particular time.

Lumberport As It Is Today

Lumberport today is not exactly a bustling city, but it has changed quite a bit from what it used to be. We may not think we're the luckiest students in the world, but our present school building is a definite improvement over the last one.

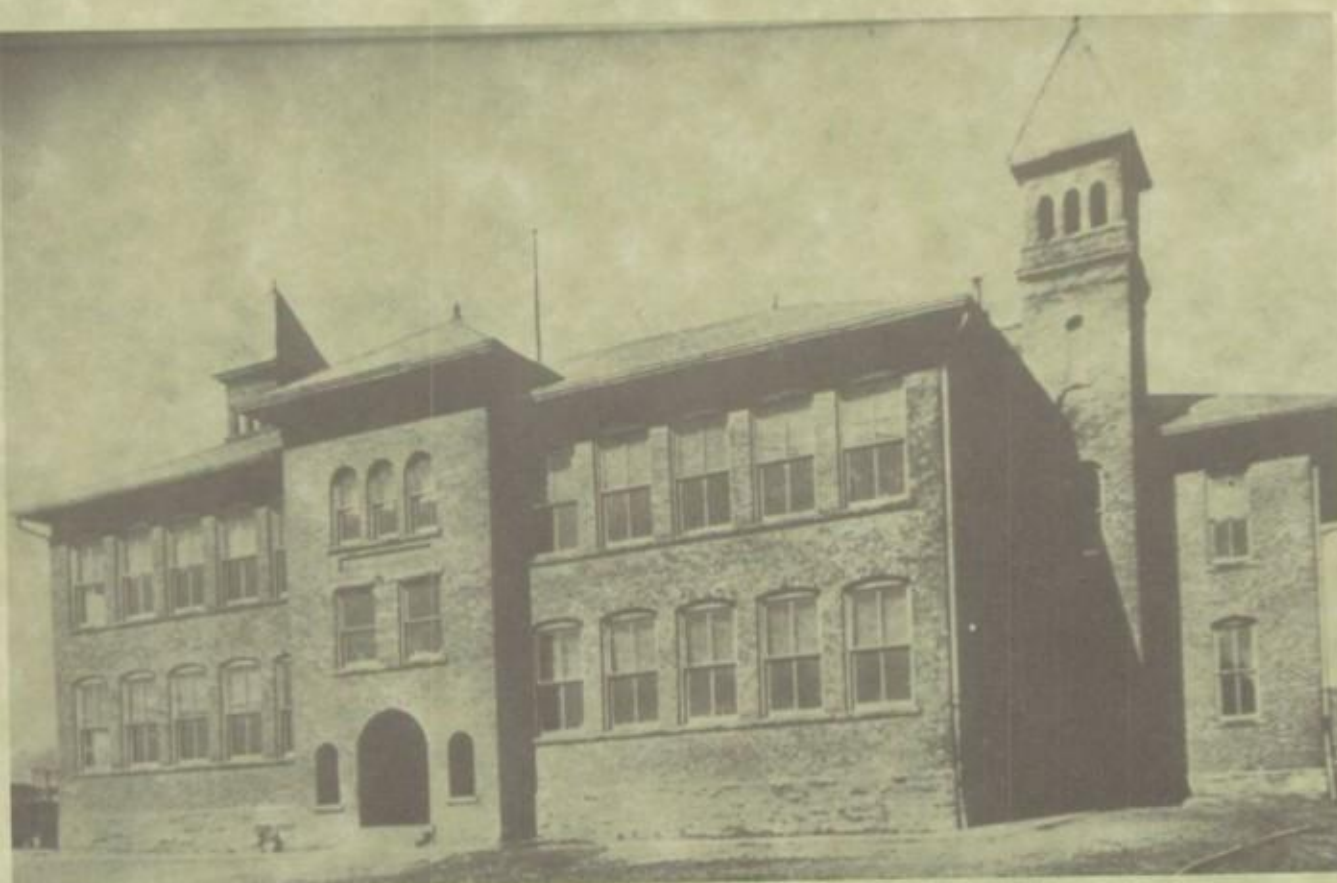

Yesteryear At L.H.S.

Imagine being the first class to graduate from that old place of learning; having a chance to be part of football's "Little Ten Champs" 1953 record 9-1-0; even being part of a great band with so much quality!

HORNBOOK OF EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

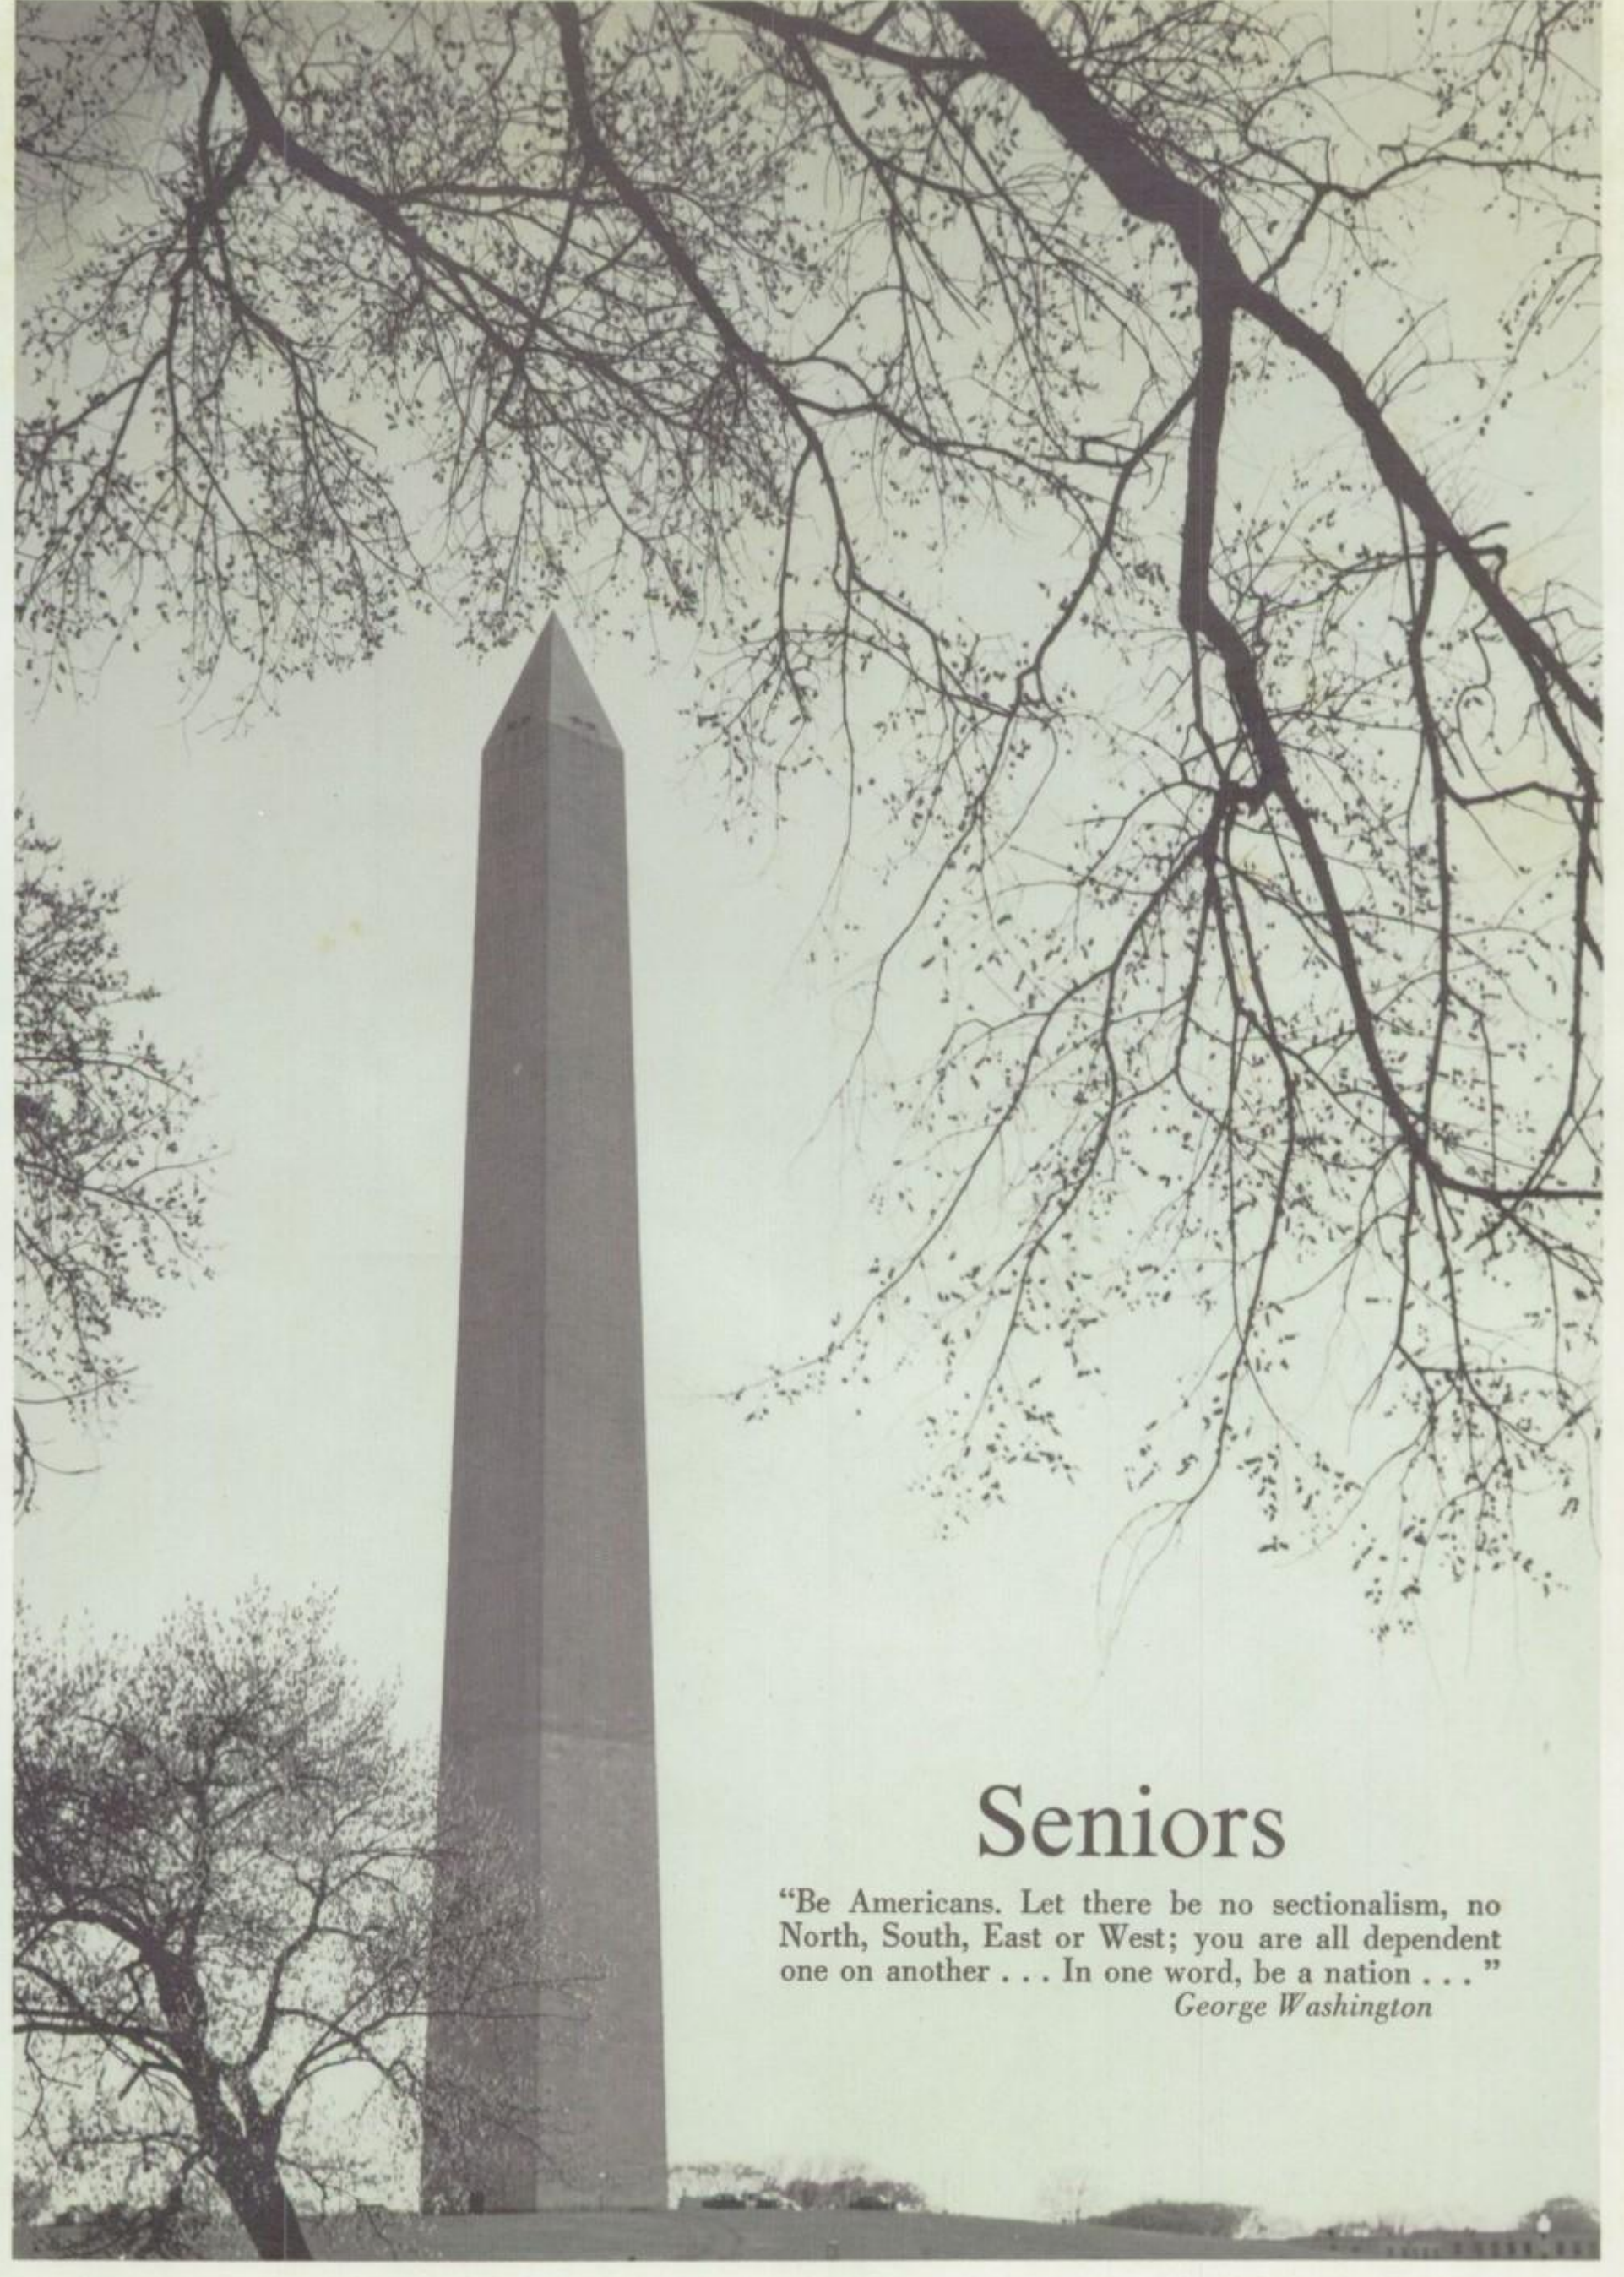

Imagine being taught by that first faculty or going to a school in a fortress; and looking forward to the end of the year to see the very first year-book.

Prom '75 "Moonlight and Roses"

The 1975 Prom was held at the Holiday Inn. The Prom consisted of a dinner and hours of plentiful dancing. The evening was topped off when last year's Queen Jennifer Travis crowned Annett Marshok Queen. Annett's escort was Doug McQuaid. The Prom was held May 27.

The Senior Assembly

The Senior Assembly is a very important time for the Seniors. During the assembly they sum up everything that they have done for the school and what the school has done for them. They all look into the past and then into the future.

The Recognition Banquet

The Recognition Banquet is held each year for the students who accumulate enough points. The points are given for honor roll, athletics, and other school activities. Everyone gets dressed up for a very formal evening. The tables always have interesting centerpieces. Many awards are given during the program. The new student council officers are installed. This year they are: Pres. Dennis Napier; Vice Pres. Alan Boring; Sec. Lisa Travis; and Treas. Jeff Kerns.

Irish Making Their Final Performance

The 1975 Graduation was held on a marvelous June evening. The guest speaker was Dr. William Phillips, Educational Professor at Fairmont State College. His speech was deeply liked. Even though it was their last performance, they seemed to be quite happy.

The Fall of L.H.S.

Most of us enjoy fall. The trees are their prettiest and with the beginning of school we all like to spend time with our friends. Some of us walk peacefully around the building while others of us would rather have leaf battles. Even though we spend our time differently we all appreciate the fall of the year.

Students Assist in Office and Library

The office and library assistants are very helpful to the secretary and librarian. They help keep the files and books in order.

Homecoming '75 Style

Homecoming Week was a busy, exciting week for everyone, with the Freshmen taking top honors for their float and with our teams' enthusiasm, we easily won the Barrackville game. The week was ended with Debbie Powers being crowned "Homecoming Queen."

U.C.C. — Teaching Skills and Business

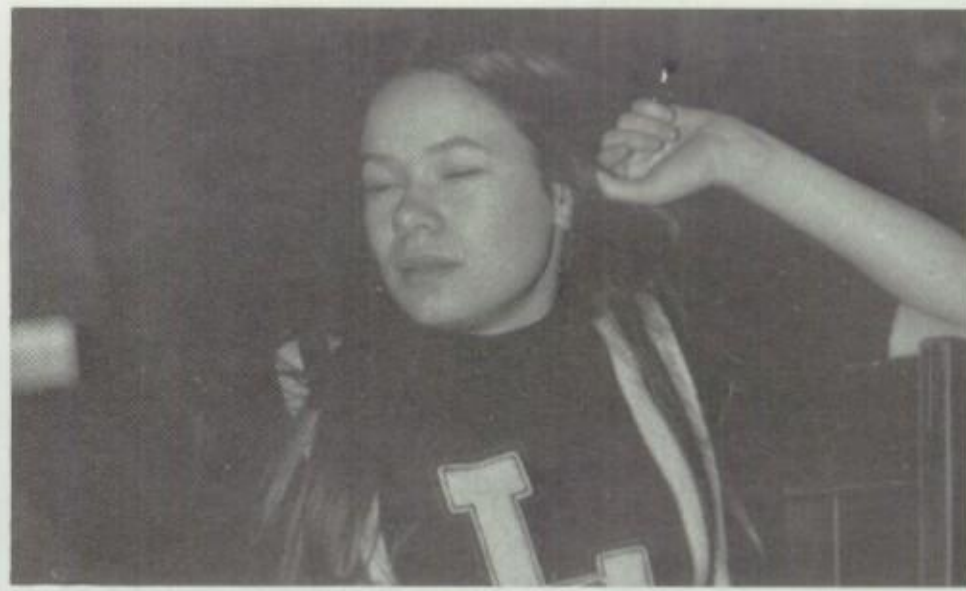

At the Career Center students are given technical training of many types. It is a real change from sitting in a hard chair and writing all afternoon. The training received at the Career Center is useful for everyday life and future occupations.

Winter Wonderland

Winter is a very beautiful time of the year. It is very cold and such, but there are the fun things also, such as sleigh riding, skiing, and all that, it is the most fun time of the year.

Christmas Program Heightens Christmas Spirit

The Christmas Program this year was very good. A lot of people thought it was the best in a long time. The Language and Drama Class presented two plays, "Muggey's Merry Christmas" and "Christmas Bell." They also had a very nice nativity scene in Pantomime. All in all, under the leadership of Mrs. Hines, everyone really enjoyed them.

There Will Always Be a Christmas

On December 20 the seniors held their traditional Christmas Dance. At this time the highest award goes to a senior boy and girl. Dennis Napier was chosen The Eagle while Debbie White was chosen Miss Eagle.

Everyone Enjoys a Ballgame

Sports at L.H.S. has had a big following of fans this year. The teams have provided the fans with plenty of excitement and thrills and spills, but no matter if the teams win or lose the fans are there to back them up.

“A Splash of Love”

The '76 Sweetheart Hop theme was A Splash of Love. The tradition was once more fulfilled with Sophomore, Tia Brackenrich being crowned Queen. Her escort was Mark Varca. The color theme for the Bicentennial Sweetheart Hop was red, white, and blue.

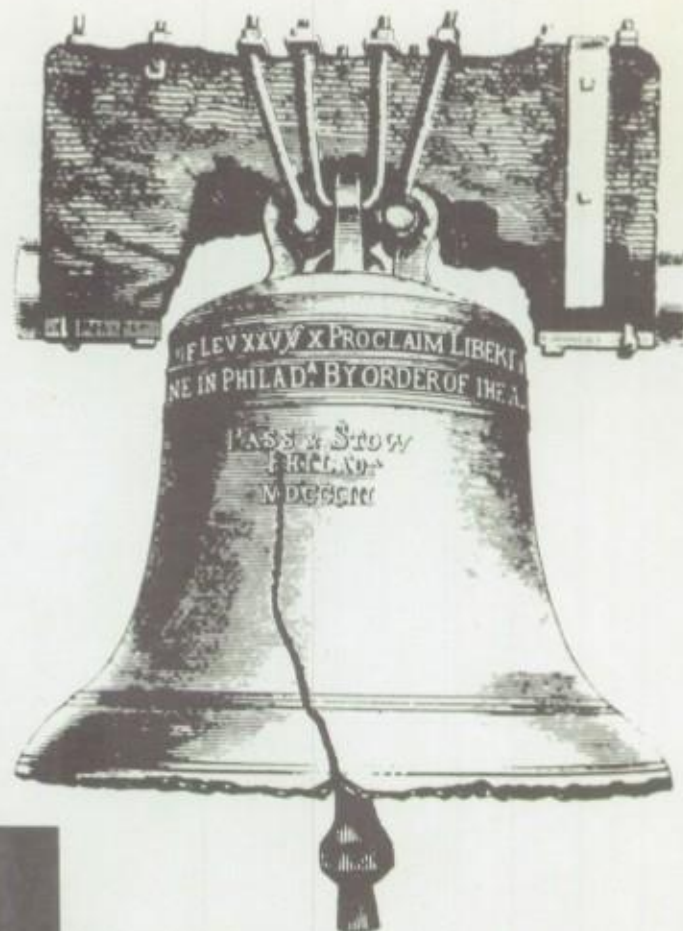

An Assembly — Bicentennial Style

Our Bicentennial Assembly was opened by the pledge to the flag. Then we had the introduction of former principals, teachers, and guests. Some of our distinguished guests gave us some information for up-coming events on the Bicentennial of Lumberport, June 20, to July 4. We also had special music by Mrs. Jean Curry.

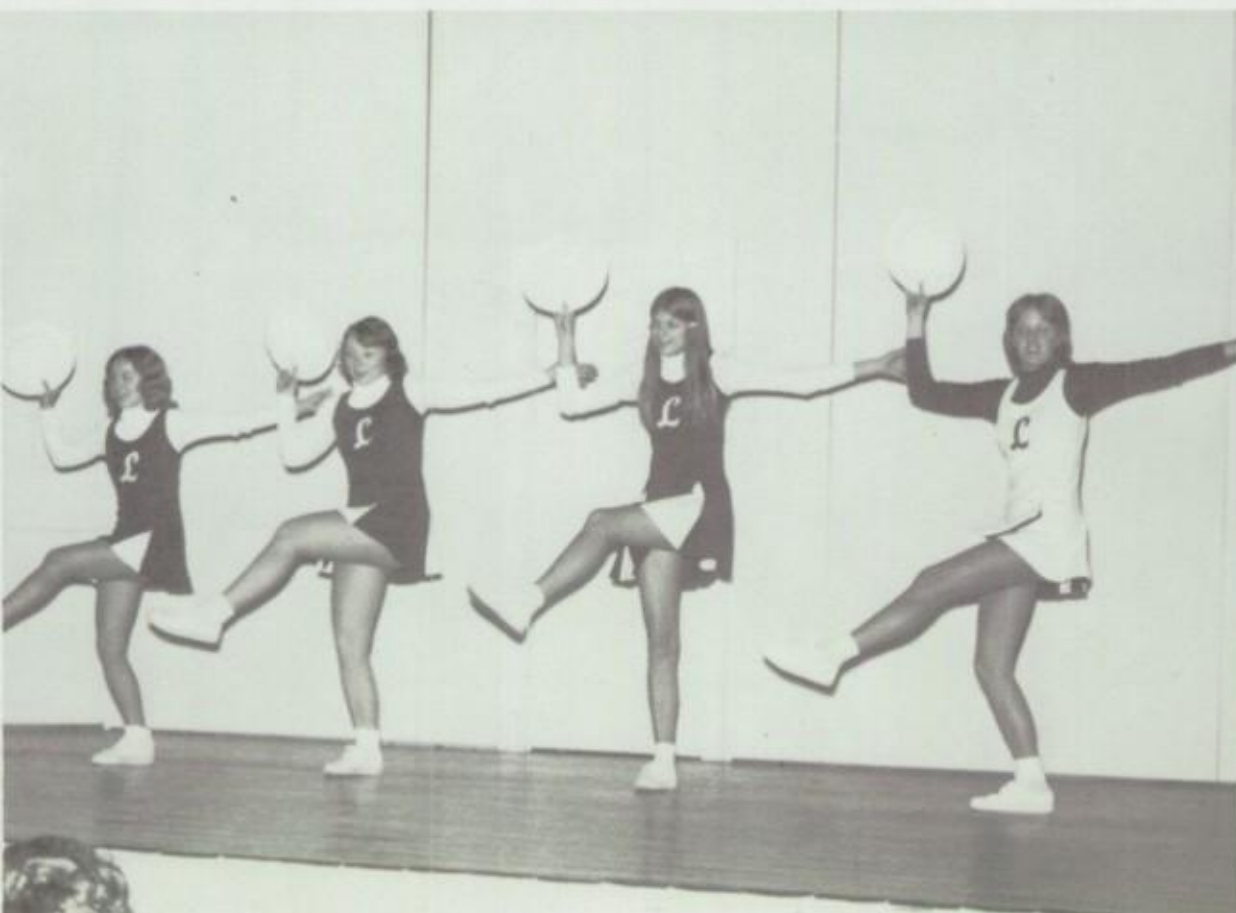

A 200 Year Old Assembly

After the opening moment of the assembly, many students participated in the activities to follow. They performed dramatic readings and skits. The Eaglettes and majorettes had a fine dance routine.

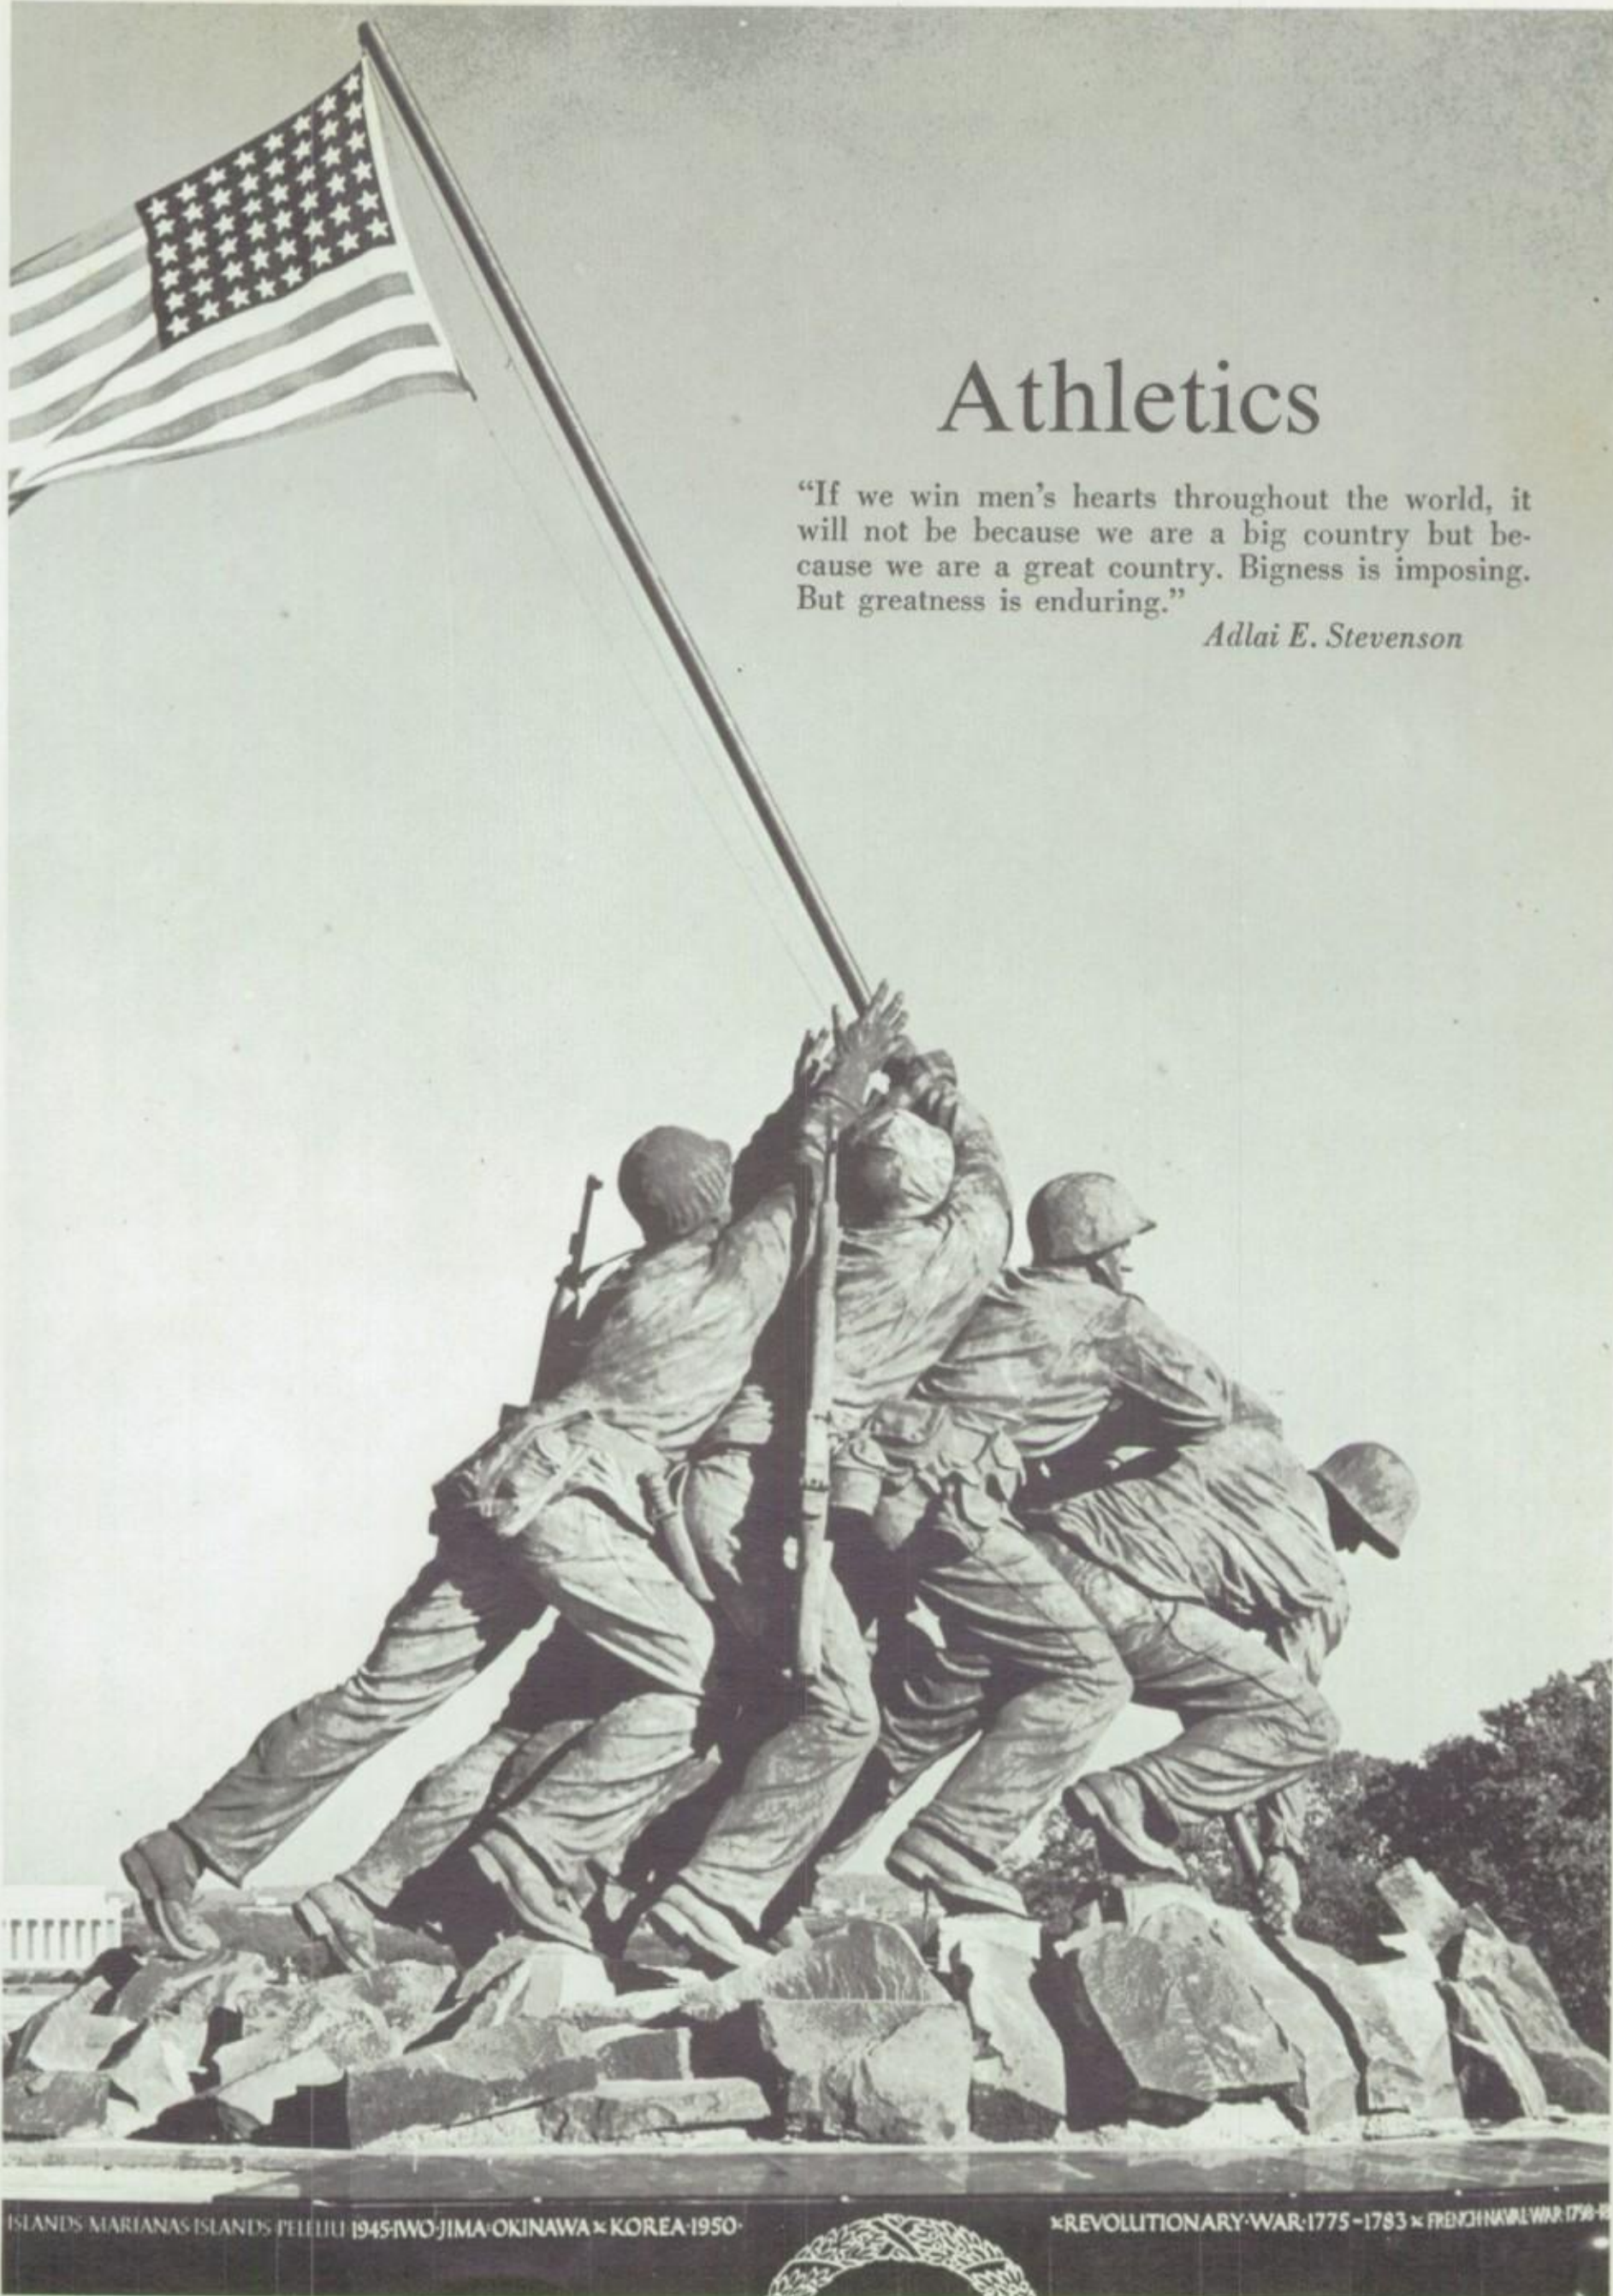

Fun Times

There are certain times when we like to have a little bit of fun, playing games, talking, or just goofing off. You can see the people here are really enjoying themselves.

Girls on the Loose

The arrival of girls' sports at Lumberport High School this year has added excitement to the student body. The girls work hard and enjoy and appreciate the opportunity to take part in athletics.

The Spirit of '76

The school didn't have much spirit this year, but the cheerleaders tried to make up for it.

They all did well at camp this summer. The varsity cheerleaders brought home a spirit stick, a high honor for them, and each squad rated well enough to get at least an excellent ribbon.

I think we should all be very proud of the girls who cheer our team on to victory.

Staff of "76" Does Great Job

The staff of 1976 had a very hard job doing the bicentennial Yearbook. They worked very hard this year and produced a very good yearbook. The Seniors really put their best effort in the making of this yearbook, and they are proud of it, and think it is one of the best yearbooks ever made.

The Juniors were hard at work this year. They began by having a magazine sale. They also had the Junior-Senior Prom, which was a great success. Being enthused about next year, they're looking forward to the Senior trip and graduation.
